The Poster will be mounted on a PVC board. The dimension of the poster board is 1.0 m (width) x 1.2 m (height). The poster must contain the title, authors' name and affiliated institutions, objectives, research methods, results and conclusion in the form of figures, graphs, tables, etc.

5. Instruction for Roundtable Presentation

Roundtables are 50-minute oral presentations with discussion with attendees seated around a table. Papers accepted for a roundtable session will be grouped by the program chair into tables with three to five papers per table, clustered around shared interests. Each roundtable at a roundtable session will have a designated chair, who is knowledgeable about the research area, to facilitate interaction and participation. Roundtables are an ideal format for networking and in-depth discussion on a particular topic.

6. Instruction for Symposium Presentation

Symposium presentations are conceived and organised by individuals who recruit speakers to present papers on a specific topic. Presenters should submit their own abstracts separately before a Symposium Presentation can be proposed. Symposium presentations last for 75 minutes and are typically organised as follows:

- Introduction
- 3 or 4 oral presentations based on submitted abstracts
- Discussion

7. Instruction for Workshop Presentation

A workshop is a brief, intensive course, lasting 50 minutes, which is led by an experienced researcher or practitioner, usually with a PhD-level qualification. It facilitates group interaction and the exchange of information between a smaller number of participants than is usual at a plenary session.

Conference workshops are typically more instructional and interactive in nature than oral presentations and involve participants working with the workshop leader on a particular topical issue.
